Dear Parishioner,

I am delighted to announce that the Parish Council's new website is now live!

Please have a look and bookmark to your favourites:

<https://www.boylestoneparishcouncil.gov.uk>

The website will also be available through standard Google searches in due course.

The new website replaces our old site which, although serving the community well when first introduced, was no longer accessibility compliant and became also very limited in scope.

We hope you like the new site – it contains easily accessible information on all that goes on at the Parish Council, links to other local authority services and also local news/events announcements.

At this time we are also introducing our new “.gov.uk” email address which, along with the new website, brings us into line with other public services.

All future correspondence from the Parish Council will now come from clerk@boylestoneparishcouncil.gov.uk and I would ask that emails that you may send to us are also sent to this address.

Yours sincerely,

Peter Bambury
Clerk to the Parish Council
